

Draft as a last scene

- "Varun! Hurry up! Aren't you going to be late Beta."
- "I know Mumma just 2 mins."

5 months have been passed still there is no sign of improvement. The Trauma still haunts me. She was there just before my eyes and still I can't do anything...

- "Good Morning Varun, by the way you're late, Her routine check-up is ongoing so you can meet her, let say in half an hour."
- "Sorry Sister."
- "Say sorry to her."

...After going our separate ways for our ambitions, we then were meeting. I remember how just randomly her message came about this meet-up plan. Boldness is in her nature. You can't be dull around her, she is always speculating. Law gave her the justice, culprit is in the jail. Her parents still can't believe that the child who spoke a lot was lying like a log in the ICU. Doctors noticed a clot in the frontal brain which might have affected his memory. I don't know why I'm crying, She is away from danger now, was is it all because of me. I doesn't deserve her...

- "Hey Varun ward is empty now you could meet her"
- Rubbed her eyes "Ok sister! Thank you for letting me know"
- "Just go you stupid and stop crying"

Inside the ward

- Amazed "Hello! Dr. Ah.. am... How is she now."
- "I have tell everything to her parents, Who are you, a family member."
- "No Dr. We are friends."
- "I have noticed you, 5 months ha... It's a long period kid, so you love her I would guess, I'm happy that this generation has got some people like you who do prefer patience."
- "I.. I'm not that well at accepting appreciation. Thank you Sir for taking care of her this whole time."
- Smiling "Let me take my leave now. She's all yours."

Tapped his shoulder and went away.

She looked just the same as she was before. My girl is gorgeous, aab I can't explain everything right

- Hesitating "Hi! How are you feeling now"
- "Look I have brought you some flowers, you prefer simplicity right so here are you Champa's "
- "I got a job too just like you, you know I'm a matured man now. Now we can share our responsibilities"
- "it hurts right, it hurts so bad that you aren't able to even convey that pain" tears coming out
- "You are the most alive person I have ever met, so prove it now"

Leaving the Hospital

Once she got consciousness there still remain one hurdle right, I have come so far so there's no going back now. I'm going to be the person she wanted, I will impersonate her, I'll be an extrovert share my feelings, thoughts... Things would not be the same from now on, reports show improvement in her health soon she'll be conscious.

I love her so badly

He looked at the sky and said,

I love you Shikha!

- "Stop crying you silly!"